

EARLY MUSIC--This vintage photo, note the anicent autos, attest to the age of the Music

Building, but the structure looked the same just before burning Thursday morning at 2:00.

HEAVY WINDS HENDER FIREMEN--High winds force the flames in the front of the Music Building to shoot out at angles which fingered into the sky over 100 feet.

Fire Destroys Building Scheduled For Razing

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Old Music Building early Thanksgiving morning, nearly causing damage to other buildings before being extinguished.

THE ALARM was first reported to campus officials by the Martin City Police about 1:30 a.m. on the 26th. Upon investigation of smoke, a flame was spotted shooting up the stairway of the building.

"I arrived at the scene about 1:50 and it looked like the flames were shooting 100 feet or so atop of the building," Ed N. White, Director of Safety and Security, said.

"MARTIN FIRE DEPARTMENT was concentrating on Browning and Reed Halls," White said. The Union City Fire Department arrived about 2:15 a.m. with their ladder truck. Union City concentrated on the south side and protected Reed Hall while the Martin crew protected the north side and Browning Hall."

A 30-mile per hour wind out of the south carried sparks all the way to the new maintenance building, with grass and leaves burning around the old gym and Westview Terrace. A dispatcher called all residents in the area, and campus authorities went door to door awakening residents, who kept Westview from being burned by fighting the grass fires with brooms and mops. Part of the football field also burned.

"WE EVACUATED Browning Hall," White said. "At 2 I thought that Reed and Browning would burn. If Browning hadn't had a slate roof on it it would have gone. Large pieces of flaming wood was lying on there burning. We broke into Reed Hall and got the records and things that looked important to the student health services."

By 4:30 the fire departments cut their water off, leaving a bed of coals and four walls.

THE BUILDING was roped off Thursday, and a drag line was moved in on Friday to knock down the standing brick walls.

Since the building was insured, persons should refrain from going into the scene, which is roped off. Plans to remove the rubble are held up while the insurance companies appraise of the building. No reason for the blaze has been given.

ALL UTILITIES had been cut off, and most if not all of the equipment in the structure had been moved to the new Fine Arts Building earlier in the quarter.

As the Hall-Moody Administration Building, the destroyed structure served the school for over 50 years, being the oldest building on campus. It was to have been destroyed sometime in the near future.

Individual Prescribed Education To Be Topic Of Faculty Seminar

"Individualized Prescribed Instruction" will be the topic for a faculty seminar this afternoon in the auditorium of the Humanities Building at 4 p.m.

DR. EDWIN B. KURTZ from Kansas State Teachers College will be the speaker. Dr. Kurtz has gained national attention for his work on IPI and has been invited to present some of his ideas at the 1970 meeting of the American Association of Science in Chicago, December 26-31. A truly individualized instructional program is the result of a systematic approach to the needs of the individual student.

The process of individualizing college courses rather than the specific equipment used is the most important part of any individualized program. His discussion of the establishment of behavioral objectives for courses as a means of improving instruction may be of interest as the faculty and administration at UT-Martin continue to search for ways of achieving greater excellence in undergraduate education.

ALL FACULTY members are urged to attend if possible.

Professional Music Fraternity Gives Concert In Arts Building

On November 24th, Phi Mu Alpha, professional music fraternity, gave a concert in the auditorium of the new Fine Arts Building. A large audience was present to view the fast-paced, fifty-five minute concert.

THE CONCERT OPENED with the playing of the fraternity song, Sinfonia. This was followed by three selections played by a brass ensemble. Following this performance was Phil Hatler's answer to Schoenberg's atonal music. Kneeling to saw Firewood was a trio consisting of a tenor, trombone, and piano.

Music was written by assistant university band director, Phil Hatler, and the lyrics by Dr. Stephen Mooney.

Other pieces performed were Two Modern Saxophone Quartets, Two Short Pieces for Brass Ensemble, and The Ideal City, a beautiful flute solo by Robert C. Fleming accompanied on the piano by Robert Stewart. These were followed by two baritone duets and a piano solo by music major, Jim Tice. The concert concluded with the singing of Sinfonia by all members of the fraternity.

Radicals Have Training Camps

At nine one morn in the city of a well known college, a phone rang in the police station.

A nervous voice warned a bomb planted in the school library would detonate in fifteen minutes. It exploded prematurely killing a janitor. Later a note was found claiming the bombing was dedicated to Communist black revolutionary Angela Davis.

Similar acts have happened many times this fall. It is part of a seasonal offensive in the United States against the establishment. These people are not "crack pots" or professional criminals. They are young intelligent college people dedicated to one cause—to overthrow the U.S. government. These young radicals now dominate the F.B.I.'s ten most wanted list, which now has been expanded to sixteen.

In a recent confidential interview with one such radical a Newsweek correspondent wrote that there were some twenty such revolutionary groups in the U.S. Though they are separate in many cases they coordinate their activities. He wrote that the person he interviewed was very clean cut looking—no long hair at all.

There are at least three training camps for revolutionaries in the U.S. Many are staffed with Viet Nam veterans. The person interviewed said he made the connection to join such a group while in Viet Nam.

The irony these revolutionaries do not have any plan of government themselves. In a recent interview with one of the "Chicago Seven" on a talk show he was asked by one of the audience the following question which he could not answer:

"How do you plan to handle revolutionaries if you succeeded in overthrowing the government?" Their heroes are Che Guevara, Carl Marx, Fidel Castro, extreme militarists. Radicals today look at Cuba as being ideal, yet the penalty for possession of Marijuana there is thirty years imprisonment, and it's enforced.

Though it seems very unlikely that the government will be overthrown, these terrorists can certainly prove to be a threat to the well being of the public. Now is the time to stop these actions—at the beginning.

Education Is Mind Fuel

Education may be regarded as the solid propellant that ignites the creative forces of our inner being. It furnishes the thrust not only for the first "takeoff" but ultimately for injection into orbit.

RECOGNIZING THE urgent need of education, citizens invest much energy, effort, and money in each of us. In return they expect us to make the most of this investment by becoming mature persons and conscientious and capable citizens.

Therefore we should:

BECOME ACUTELY AWARE education is a "fulltime" pursuit to which our major attention and energies should be devoted.

Keep informed about what the school offers, and select wisely those subjects and activities that will be of greatest benefit to you.

PROTECT SCHOOL property and reduce the costs of education while maintaining the quality of the facilities.

Take advantage of the school's counseling service by seeking help in solving our problems.

AVOID CHEATING.

Budget your time, and balance duties between studies and other activities.

FIND WAYS to serve the school and engage in activities that bring credit to it.

Dress appropriately for different occasions.

LIMIT SCHOOL activities on school nights in order to be rested and well prepared.

Take time to cultivate friends, and develop your social as well as intellectual abilities.

Critics Corner

Charlotte Bell, Junior, Secondary Education

The way an individual may choose to use his time and energy is limitless. In so doing one may become a great person or not so great a person. A person in this way, to a greater or lesser degree, makes his own destiny. This is the way it is in a truly free society.

THROUGH THE PRACTICE of these freedoms and the use of one's time, one individual chooses to occupy space in the campus paper and joins the way of many not so great people in an attempt to degrade the President of the United States.

It is very unlikely that this will greatly damage the prestige of the President, but may in fact have the adverse effect and diminish the prestige of the writer.

THE WRITER WOULD LEAD the people to believe that they were sold an inferior bill of goods in President Nixon. He does this without taking other Presidential products into account that might be available. He infers that the Madison Avenue People are used by only one President. This is simply not the case. Little research is needed to find that all Presidential candidates use whatever means available to get themselves elected.

The writer who is able to use available means most effectively, depending on whether he is pro or con toward the individual, is able to make him into either a villain or a hero.

OF THE MANY THINGS that need to be said concerning the moral and spiritual decay of the individuals of this nation, how futile it seems to find one criticizing the President for having been elected by selling himself to the public, while the writer in a cheap kind of way indulges in the same practice by trying to unsell him.

Vanguard Play Starts Friday

Vanguard's fall production of "Spoon River Anthology" will be presented Friday through Sunday in Room 127 of the Fine Arts Building with a curtain time of 8 p.m. in the evenings and a special Sunday afternoon matinee at 2:30.

TICKETS ARE $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. The box office is open in the Fine Arts Building, telephone number is 587-7563.

The play, directed by William H. Snyder, features Bivens Cullins, Sally Hutson, Scottie Ledford, Deb O'Daniel, Phillip Page, Doug Sheppard, David Taylor, and Barry Eysman. Music and songs will be performed by Nancy Duncan and Tim Barrington.

YAF Plans Meeting Tonight

The Young Americans for Freedom will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in a University Center conference room. A panel will discuss "Why does the U.S. need a strong military?"

YAF thanks students, faculty and staff for the response to two separate drives the organization made within a 48-hour period last week. YAF gained more than 500 signatures on petitions demanding the release of American P.O.W.'s in North Vietnam.

The second drive, to be continued through Friday, is selling Christmas cards to be sent to West Tennessee servicemen stationed in Vietnam. During the 48-hour period last week, approximately 100 cards were sold.

ROTC Scholarships Now Open

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS desiring to compete for nearly 1,000 four-year Army Reserve Officer's Training Corps (ROTC) scholarships should request application forms now, Colonel Harold J. Meyer, professor of military science at The University of Tennessee at Martin, announced recently.

Requests for scholarship applications should be addressed to Army ROTC, Ft. Monroe, Virginia 23351. Deadline for submitting applications is December 31, 1970.

The scholarships will be awarded to students entering college in 1971. Each award pays for full college tuition, books, laboratory fees and provides the student $50 monthly.

Winners may attend any one of more than 250 colleges and universities throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia which offer Army ROTC. Recipients may pursue any course of study recognized by the institution of their choice which leads to a baccalaureate degree. Following graduation, the student must serve as an active duty officer for four years.

Colonel Meyer stated that he and members of the UTM ROTC staff would assist any local applicants in obtaining the necessary application forms.

Scholarship winners are selected on the basis of academic excellence, extra-curricular activities, physical standards, Scholastic Aptitude Test or American College Testing Program scores and evaluation of motivation and leadership potential following the student's appearance before a selection board.

The Army also plans to award approximately 400 three-year scholarships and 630 two-year scholarships to college men who are currently enrolled in ROTC.

Side Effects

by Sports Editor Dennis Richardson

The '70-71 Vol basketball team under veteran Coach Floyd "Red" Burdette has a real challenge on its hands as the new season gets underway. Almost every team UTM faces this year has improved since a year ago, and Southwestern was no exception. The fact that UTM is the defending VSAC champ will not make the going any easier. The team has gained valuable experience, through through rugged workouts and the game with the Linx from Southwestern.

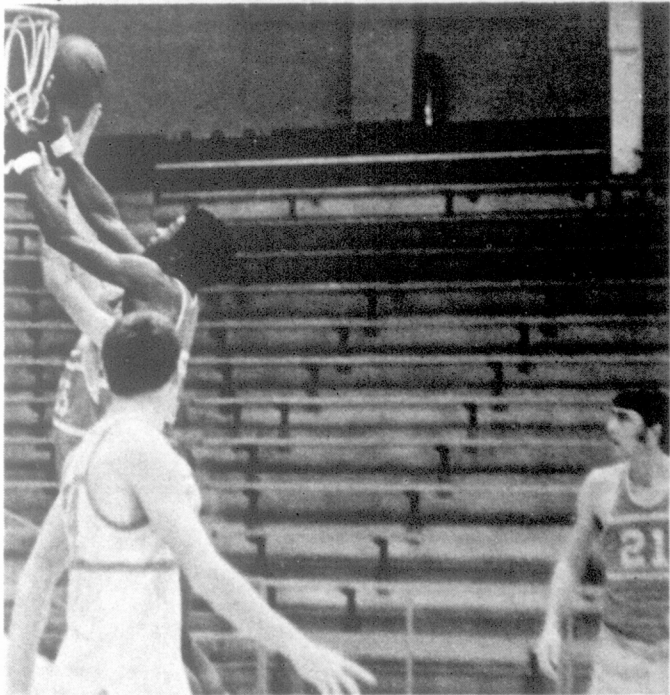

UTM WILL PLAY eight games before the VSAC race gets underway on January 6 when the Orangemen and Christian Brothers College clash in Memphis.

There will be two home basketball games before the holidays. Delta State visits Martin this Monday and Indiana State at Evansville comes down on Saturday.

TURNING TO FOOTBALL, Coach Robert Carroll will have a lot to build on for next season as he loses only five by graduation. The outlook is similar to 1966 when the Vols were good but young and lacked depth and experience. That same team, hit lightly with graduating seniors, finished the following year 9-1 and defeated strong West Chester State in the Tangerine Bowl.

UTM'S WRESTLING TEAM under, Coach Reiselt, will open its campaign this Saturday at Cape Girardeau, Missouri in a triple duel with Southeast Missouri State, Southwest Missouri State, and Southeast Louisiana.

WORK ON THE BOARDS—Leonard Hamilton and other unidentified Vol cagers battle for rebounds in preparation for the first game of the season which was played last night in Memphis.
